Sparklers, Firecrackers Pose Fire Threat In County

Ten fires were reported to the Crawford County Sheriff's Department between June 13 and June 19, nine of which were small grass fires. Department of Natural Resources (DNR) fire officers help to extinguish two of these fires.

Forest Fire Officer, Duane Brooks, cautions residents and visitors to continue to use extreme fire safety measures. He explained that the forest are critically dry.

Brooks stated that outdoor cooking in charcoal and gas grills is still permitted; however, he asks outdoor chefs to place their grills in an open area, and to have a water source nearby. Before disposing of used charcoal, make sure the coals are cold.

The Fourth of July is two weeks away, and Brooks warns people of the fire hazards posed by sparklers and firecrackers. One of the grass fires reported this week was started when a firecracker ignited the lawn of a city resident. Brooks stated that parents should be aware that fires started by fireworks could considered negligent and suppression costs could be imposed.

Roadside Vandals Sought by Sheriff Department

The Crawford County Sheriff Department is requesting assistance in apprehending the suspect or suspects responsible for a large amount of property damage that occurred this past week. Numerous mailboxes and signs, both highway and private, have been damaged in the M-72 East, M-18, McMasters Bridge and South Branch Township areas during the night time hours.

Citizens with any information are asked to contact the Crawford County Sheriff Department, 348-6341.

Mayor Golnick to Present "Camp Grayling Day" Proclamation

A proclamation announcing Friday, June 24, as Camp Grayling Day was presented on Tuesday, June 21, to General Vernon Andrews, The Adjutant General of Michigan, by Grayling City Mayor, Robert Golnick.

The proclamation details the many contributions the Michigan National Guard has made to Graying, and is given to honor Camp Grayling's Diamond Jubilee.

Camp Grayling Boat Launching Closed for One Day Only

Due to the homecoming events planned for this Friday at Camp Grayling, there will be no boat launching available from the boat ramp at the Camp Grayling Beach. Residents with boats already moored at the beach will be able to use their boats by taking the shuttle bus into Camp Grayling. The shuttle bus will pick up people at the designated parking area, which is the old MATES facility located on the North side of Grayling on Old 27.

The personnel at Camp Grayling regret any inconvenience this one-day-only restriction may cause, but invite everyone to come enjoy the demonstrations, annual pass-inreview, and entertainment featuring Jerry Reed that is being offered free on June 24 in honor of Camp Grayling's 75th An-

Tax Law Requires Hearing To Levy All Voted Millage

The Truth-in-Taxation hearing for the school district on June 22nd is required by law, said Crawford AuSable Assistant Superintent Paul Lerg. The legally required notice implies a tax increase beyond voted levels. The truth regarding truth-in-taxatjion is actually that a resolution to levy all the voted millage – but not more than the voted millage – is being considered, explains Lerg.

Community Education to Offer Summer Programs for Children

The Crawford AuSable Community Education Program will sponsor a summer program for students of grades 1 through 8 beginning on June 27 and ending on August 5. All classes will be held at the Grayling Middle School and will be taught by adults and in most cases, certified teachers.

Tuition for the summer program is $20.00 per student per class. Each class will meet for a 11/2 hour period, two days each week. Any student wishing to take a summer class should fill out a registration form and return it by mail to: Community School Office, Grayling High School, Grayling, Registrations must be received by the office no later than Monday, June 20, so that class schedules can be developed and put in the mail to students by June 21. The summer program is open to any student spending the summer in the Crawford AuSable School District.

The classes offered are Kid's Theatre, Kid's Musical Theatre, Reading, Mathematics, Gymnastics, Tennis, Exploring the Computer, and Beginning Signing.

Grayling Off-Ramp Closing for Repairs After Labor Day

The north bound I-75 ramp into Grayling will be closed for resurfacing following the Labor Day weekend, Michigan Dept. of Transportation (MDOT) announced Thursday, June 16.

The Four Mile Bridge (over-pass) will also be resurfaced, but a single traffic lane will be maintained with the use of the signal light. The ramp into Grayling will have to be closed because of its narrow width.

The MDOT has included an incentive clause in their contract with Champangne-Weber, Inc. of Fraser, for early completion of the Grayling bridge. The contractor will have 28 calendar days from September 6th to complete all deck work. With the incentive allowed, MDOT engineers feel it is almost certain that the ramp will open to traffic in 20 days or less. The contractor has agreed to make every effort to reopen the ramp to traffic as soon as possible, said MDOT engineers.

During the bridge deck overlap work, I-75 traffic will be detoured northerly to Exit 259 (M-93 or Hartwick Pines Road). Advance signing, placed at Military and Four Mile Roads, will advise motorists that the Grayling exit is closed. This should allow travelers, who are familiar with the area, to Alpena, MI 517/356-2231.

use Military Road as an alternative route to Grayling or M-72.

Bridge resurfacing, to maintain Michigan's highway systems, is necessary every 15 to 20 years say MDOT engineers. Repairs to the two bridges were ordered following an MDOT's annual bridge inspec-

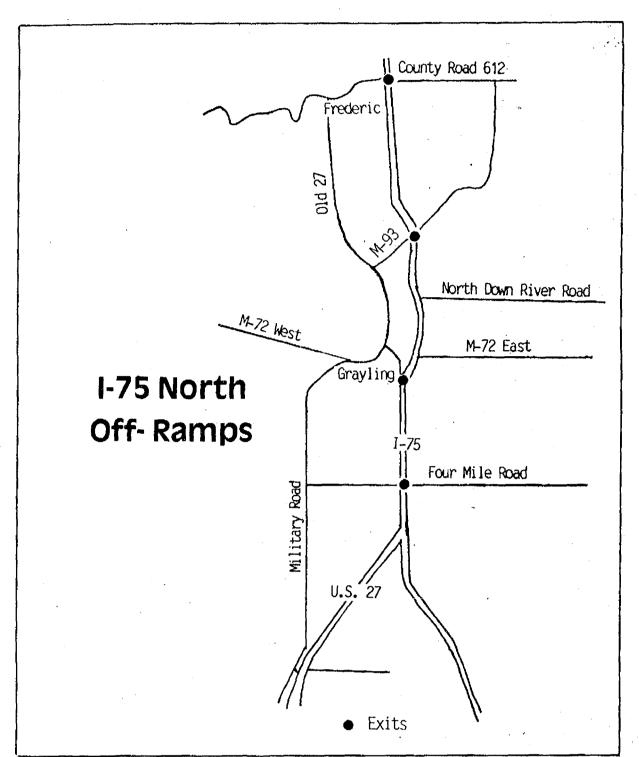

The bridge resurfacing process will involve the following three steps:

Removal of patched and unsound con-

Replacement of the expansion joint. Resurface the deck (using concrete laced with strands of latex fibers).

Sandblasting, priming, and repainting of the structural steel beneath these bridges, and reparation of the pier cap, will also be completed with this contract. The painting may start as soon as June 23, but this work should not involve any road closures. Traffic will be maintained by flagging operations.

Questions or requests for additional information concerning these projects, should be directed to John E. Norton, Jr. P.E.,

Vandals Destroy Fence At Lovells Dumpster

Vandals destroyed 150 ft. of chain-link fence at Dump Site No. 1 in Lovelis Town-

Sometime during the night of June 15, vandals hooked onto the six foot fence with some type of motor vehicle, and tore the entire north side of the fence away. Crawford County Sheriff Department estimated the damage at $1,000.

Dolores Haberland, township treasurer, explained that Lovells Township began restricting the hours the dump was open in May, and that a few residents had disagreed with the township board's decision.

Lyle Jewell, township supervisor, stated that the restricted hours were necessary in order to comply with the Department of Natural Resourse (DNR) guidelines for township transfer stations. He explained that Lovells Township has received several citations for non-compliance following DNR inspections because of their "open-door"

The DNR requires that an attendant be on duty during the hours the dump is open. The restricted hours allow the township to have an attendant on duty and to issue dump permits to residents. Jewell said he was aware that a few people were upset about the new dump policy, but said that he was shocked that someone would be so destruc-

Harberland said that since the gates were locked, and only people with resident cards have been allowed to use the transfer stations, the amount of trash collected in Lovells Township has been reduced considerably. She explained that before the restricted hours were enforced people from Otsego, Oscoda, and Montmorency counties as well as people from Grayling, South Branch, and Maple Forest townships all used the Lovells' transfer stations.

The fences around both Lovells transfer stations were installed in November, 1987, at the cost of nearly $7,000.

The new dump hours are: Sat. and Sun. from 2 - 6 p.m., Wed. from 8 - noon, and Mondays following holidays, from 8 - noon.

Erosion Control Project Slated for Manistee

By Irene Pettyjohn

Construction of erosion control barriers and riverbank restoration along 300 ft. of the Manistee River, near the Horse Camp, will begin as soon as the Mio office of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) receives the necessary DNR permits. Kyle Kruger, habitat biologist, reported that work could begin as early as this week.

The riverbank stabilization project is needed to reduce a serious erosion problem on the upper Manistee River, says Kruger. The DNR will be working in cooperation with the Lansing Chapter of Trout Unlimited to complete the restoration project. Dave Cozad, of Trout Unlimited, explained that the DNR will construct a cedar log jam structure, a natural looking retaining wall, to stabilize the toe, and members of the Lansing Chapter of Trout Unlimited will restore the riverbank by hauling in brush, planting trees, and seeding and mulching the entire area. A semi-truck load of cedar logs for the project was purchased with a $1,000 grant received by the Lansing Chapter of Trout Unlimited from the Michigan Natural Resources Commission (NRC). Applicants for these grants must match State grant money, either dollar-for-dollar or with inkind services, such as labor and materials, and projects must be consistent with DNR fisheries management goals.

Riverbank stabilization to halt erosion is one of five steps suggested in a twenty year recovery plan drafted by Kruger to restore the Manistee River to the quality trout system it was years ago.

The plan, although still not approved by fishery and resource administrators in Lansing, is supported by Kruger's supervisor, district fisheries biologist, Dave Smith, also of Mio. Ben Butts, president of the Upper Manistee River Association enthusiastically refers to Kruger's plan as "almost perfectlike American motherhood and apple pie."

Burning Ban Covers Entire Crawford County

Governor James J. Blanchard has banned all open burning in the Upper Peninsula, all of the Northern Lower Peninsula and two southern Lower Peninsula counties as Department of Natural Resources (DNR) fire fighters continue to battle wildfires caused by the severe drought.

The emergency measure took effect at noon, Thursday, June 15. "This is serious business," Director David Hale of the DNR said. "One property owner already lost his life, and we've lost close to 10,000 acres to wildfires this spring. The drought has turned land into a tinderbox and the 20 mile and hour winds we've been experiencing are a very serious threat."

DNR fire crews are still mopping up a 1,500-acre blaze which destroyed a cabin and trailer near Damon in Ogemaw County, Monday and Tuesday. Thirty persons were evacuted from Damon but were allowed to return to their homes between 11 p.m. and midnight Tuesday.

Statewide DNR personnel responded to more than 100 fires Monday and Tuesday and while some rain showers were moving through northern Michigan, not enough rain is expected to substantially reduce the fire sediment. Chemical treatments for lampreys and rough fish (burbot, chubs, and suckers).

Hales said the Department has been assisted by local fire departments and the US Forest Service.

Riverbank stabilization to halt erosion. Possible changes in shocking techniques (stocking more and different strains of trout).

Restoration can be time consuming, costly, and usually involves some unique problems, said Kruger.

On-going maintenance of the sand traps is a department concern - in the past, the DNR has objected to the dumping of sediment on riverbanks. "If they work properly, who pays for emptying them and hauling away the sand?" asked Smith. "Let alone the fact we've never tried sand traps on such a large scale."

annual bill for emptying the proposed sand traps could reach as much as $60,000.

Smith addressed a second concern regarding the use of sand traps. "If under that river-bottom sand there is only more sand instead of gravel, why build sand traps? Some portions of the river may be helped by them," Smith said, "others may not."

Chemical treatment for lampreys and rough fish could cost $150,000 and need to be repeated every 15 years. This expense Kruger feels is reasonable considering the immediate effect the treatments would have on the survival and growth of trout in the DNR wildlife personnel have some concerns about the removal of suckers near active eagle nests. Suckers can be a large part of the diet of eagles.

Public hearings to discuss the use of chemicals by the federal government in the Manistee River could be scheduled as early Kruger's plan also suggests improving the natural appearance of the river by usage of zoning ordinances and improved public access sites.

Kruger stated that the idea or goal of the Kruger and Smith have estimated that the recovery plan is that by the time the short term programs (chemical treatments) end, benefits from the long term programs (sand traps, riverbank stabilization, etc.) are beginning to be realized. "Hopefully," Kruger said, "fishing on the Manistee will be much improved for our children and grandchildren.

EYE SAFETY AND WORK QUESTION: What is the difference between impact-resistant lenses and safety glasses? ANSWER: What protection do you need? Well, different eye protection equipment is needed for different:

All corrective lenses prescribed by eye doctors are, by law, impact-resistant spectacles which provide limited frontal protection against flying particles. However, "impact-resistant" lenses could break. "Safety glasses" with lenses meeting industrial safety lens standards offer greater protection for the worker.

Safety thickness goggles offer both frontal and side protection. They may be worn over regular glasses and offer excellent protection against flying particles.

Pets Need Protection From Rabies and Summer Heat

By Nancy Lemmen

Get your pet vaccinated, especially against rabies, advise Deputy Marge Mathew, Crawford County Animal Control Officer, and Dr. Paul Mesack, of the Hospital for Grayling Animals.

Mathew estimates that only one-quarter of the pets in the county have been vaccinated and she fears that the rabies outbreaks which have occurred in other Michigan counties could spread to Crawford.

She told the Avalanche that there has been an increase in rabies among wildlife-notably skunks, raccoons and bats-and pets (especially cats) can come into contact with them, get bitten and spread the disease humans and other animals. "If vaccinations can prevent just one person from getting rables," says Mathew, "they're worth it."

Also, during the hot summer months, pet owners should ease up a bit on food, double up on cold, fresh water and provide animals with shelter from the sun. "Summer is hard on animals," Mathew says.

Mesack, Dr. veterinarian, was the featured speaker for the Gaylord Chapter of the Ruffed Grouse Society's annual Spring Get-Together, held May 25 at the headquarters of the Pigeon River Country. Mesack spoke about field and general hunting dog

Opinions

Northern Views

By Jon Thompson

Last week a cool breeze brought peacefulness to our county after a long hot spell. But news from afar also brought - 'some scary thoughts to our county last

A group of media observers called Project Censored cited these stories among the top ten stories not widely publicized by the national news media:

BIOWARFARE

Overshadowed by Star Wars, the push toward biowarfare has been one of nation's best secrets. The Pentagon's research budget for infectious diseases and toxins has increased tenfold since fiscal year 1981. Most of the 1986 budget of $42 million for biowarfare research went to 24 U.S. univer-

NUCLEAR ACCIDENTS

In 1987 a West Germany weekly DER SPIEGEL published secret nuclear reactor accident reports compiled by the International Atomic Energy Agency. The Freports said a meltdown was a real possiblity in several of the accidents and DER SPIEGEL warned that human error is most prevalent in North America. The reports were published in a small circulation U.S. publication but were ignored by the major media.

3RD WORLD TOXIC WASTE DUMPING Exporting chemically contaminated wastes, heavy metal residues, pharmaceutical refuse, and municipal sewage has increased to Third World counties. The groundwater and crops in these countries could become contaminated affecting the people there and the food we import from these countries.

PROJECT GALILEO

Despite scientific warnings of a possible disaster, NASA is planning to launch the Project Galileo shuttle space probe with 49 pounds of lethal plutonium on it.

A recent Detroit News article showing Camp Grayling on a possible hit list for Soviet nuclear warheads was old news to many here. Camp Grayling has been on that list before. What was scary about the recent article was a quote saving a limited nuclear war is survivable. The slow but almost sure death from radiation fallout might be worse than a quick ending. I don't like people who suggest any sort of nuclear war is survivable. Engaging in any type of nuclear war should be unthinkable and let's keen it that way.

The rate of development in Crawford County is also a scary thought for some people here. Let's keep enough of the land, rivers, and woods so our grandchildren know why we lived here.

Almanack

Political despair out of place

by Richard Milliman

POLITICAL DESPAIR seems to be setting in a little early during this 1988 🥶 presidential election year.

Usually it's a bit later in the political season before the grass roots voter tends to throw up his/her hands and lament that neither of the major candidates amounts to a hill of beans.

We've all heard the complaints:

Vice President George Bush, the Republican standard bearer, has no backbone. He's just a poor imitation of what we've had for the last eight years. As vice president, he's gone to a lot of funerals but hasn't done much else.

And before that, his rather impressive portfolio of the past means primarily that he has been a party hack at best, and simply couldn't hold a job at worst. Mr. Bush has no convictions, no original thoughts, no vision of what America should be in the DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE Michael Dukakis is no better as a candidate. He's a big spending northern liberal, regardless of how he tries to paint himself, and those sorts of politicians always lead us to higher taxes, more welfare, and eventual ruin.

He's completely emotionless, has no charisma, is a puppet of the Kennedys, is ruthlessly ambitious, has no firm convictions, no original thoughts, no experience in foreign affairs. As our president, he couldn't possibly stand up to the Russians in any face-to-face encounter.

In short, the America voter has a dilemma. How can the voter possibly choose a good president from between these two medicore-to-poor candidates?

As comedian Mark Russell complained, George Bush is Gerald Ford without glamour, while Michael Dukakis is Jimmy Carter without the pizzaz.

And even more serious for the future of this nation - and the world - how can American possibly prosper or even exist if we have to settle for either Mr. Dukakis or Mr. Bush?

ting in a little earlier than usual. That may well be due to the length of the primary campaign, and the immediacy of television. The emerging nominees - and those who have fallen by the wayside over the past many months - are better known to the voters than at probably any time in the past, because of the intensity of the campaign (and its length) and its coverage (and its volume).

Of course, for the committed supporters of both candidates, and for the down-the-line party loyalists on both sides, there is no despair - only concern about what will happen to this country if the other guy somehow Elections frequently are limited to choosing between unenthusiastic or even undesirable alternatives....sort of picking the candidate we don't want the least. That may well be the case for some of us in 1988.

BUT AMERICAN WILL survive, no matter what happens. And America probably will even will prosper.

We have survived eight years of Ronald Reagan in the White House....four years of Jimmy Carter. We have survived Gerald Ford, and Richard Nixon, and Lyndon Johnson and John Kennedy and Dwight Eisenhower and Harry Truman and threeplus terms of Franklin Roosevelt. We have even survived Herbert Hoover and Calvin Coolidge and Warren Harding and a lot of other presidents, too. In the process, we have survived their shortcomings, their drawbacks, their weaknesses.

George Bush and Michael Dukakis are good men. They love America. They will do what they think is right, for this country and her people.

Somehow, the White House seems to provide some unusual dimension for its occupants at the precise moment it's needed. All of those presidents listed above - with the possible exception of Mr. Harding called on outstanding resources on various occasions when America needed them. They rose to the occasion. Michael Dukakis or George Bush will, too.

So, voters should not despair, America will be in good hands, no matter who wins in November. America will survive, and even prosper. It always has.

M.M.A.: Workers' Comp, Unemployment Insurance Biggest Negatives

By Warren M. Hoyt Michigan Press Association

The cost of workers' compensation and Your breakdown of the unemployment insurance continue to have the greatest negative impact on Michigan industry, while the proximity to customers and markets and the availability of labor have the greatest benefits, according to a survey released by the Michigan Manufacturers Association.

> The results are based on a 20 percent response rate from 2,500 surveys sent to corporate decision makers.

However, 88 percent of the survey respondents said there is a fair, good or excellent likelihood they would increase the level of their workforce in Michigan in the next two years.

MMA members also said state/local tax levies, the cost of labor and the cost of health care programs have a significant negative impact on their businesses. On the other hand, employers gave high marks to the state's transportation system and quality of life.

Restricting the right to hire and fire employees was ranked highest among several legislative proposals that pose the greatest risk to employers' businesses, while mandated health benefits and mandated parental leave followed.

Advance notification of plants closings and restricting employee drug testing ranked fourth and fifth, respectively.

Fouty-six of the respondents who have multi-state operations said the cost of doing business in Michigan is rising faster than the cost in other states compared to 6 percent who said the costs are decreasing.

A report released recently by the Michigan Association of Insurance Companies declared the cost of subsidizing the state's "high-risk pools" and funding other special state insurance programs exceeded $250 million last year.

The association, reiterating arguments it has presented to the Legislature, said subsidies for Michigan's "pools" are highest in the Midwest and among the highest nationally.

Terry Buckles, president of the insurance association, said many of the special assessments paid by private insurers and their policyholders are used to subsidize state programs which provide below-cost insurance coverage for some residents.

The report listed the Michigan Basic Property Insurance Association, an organization created by state law to provide home insurance for people who might have difficulty obtaining coverage from regular companies, as one entity which collected $20 million from private carriers to cover

The Michigan Automobile Insurance Placement Facility, providing below-cost auto coverage, collected $13 million from privates to cover losses, the report also

Other special insurance programs listed and amounts collected included:

Michigan Assigned Claims Facility, $9.1 million; Michigan Workers' Compensation Placement Facility, $31.5 million; Workers' Compensation Second Injury Fund, $10.7 million; Silicosis, Dust Disease and Logging Industry Compensation Fund, $2.8 million. and the Michigan Property and Casualty Guaranty Association, $21.9 million.

"For every green thumb there's two red knees."

"I would like to introduce my pop to you," says Eugene M. Jerome, protagonist of Neil Simon's semi-autobiographical play, "Brighton Beach Memoirs." "He's a real hard worker. He was born at the age of 42."

Who among us is so very different from Eugene? Who has the imagination and the inclination to see past the part of the person that is the parent to the many other parts which make up the total man? I was reminded recently of my own inability to relate to the man beyond the father: Dave and I visited San Francisco this spring. We spent one night in the elegant and historic St. Francis Hotel. which faces Union Square in the heart of the

"You know, your dad told me he stayed at that hotel while he was in the service," said my mother, after hearing my report of our trip. I tried to create a mental image of my father in the same place, forty years earlier: What would he have been doing? Wearing his Army Air Force uniform, strutting up and down the hilly streets with airmen buddies, laughing and punching each other, eyeing attractive women on the Embarcadero, escorting his girlfriend visiting from Wisconsin to the hotel's well-known tea room, tasting calamaries for the first time? Who knows?

"I was in San Francisco during the war," said my father-in-law, when he heard of our plans for spring vacation. I remember walking Market Street. Make sure you get there." In his honor, we drove the length of the street and wondered if the sights and the sounds and the smells of our experience could have been anything like those he saw and heard and smelled as a young sailor off to the city on a week-end pass. Probably not.

Who were these men, youngsters really, only a few years out of high school, who visited the Golden Gate City briefly - one to be sent to the South Pacific to navigate airplanes and drop bombs on the enemy, the other to be shipped out on a destroyer escort to invade Guam?

I confess I don't know them. I've heard stories about them, though, I remember, for example, the story about my dad's squadron returning to its island base after completing a bombing mission, flying in zero visibility in a heavy thunderstorm. I've lost the route, but my plane is going this way, radioed the lead navigator. No, responded my father, I've been navigating with instruments and I think that flight plan will take us straight into the mountains. My plane is going another way. The others decided to follow and my dad was right and they made it back to the

That person became the father who always intuits the direction we should be going in, whether we're on foot or in a car, in the city or in the country. This man who gets his family to our destinations on time once saved his comrades from crashing into the mountains of some South Pacific island. But that man is nobody I ever knew.

Or Dave's father, who as a young Navy man served for months at a stretch on the USS Mitchell, with radio silence precluding any communication with family members worrying back at home. He departed from San Diego without knowing he was leaving a pregnant wife, and did not meet his first and only son until the baby was five months old. I didn't know that person, either.

I know only the man whose face lights up when Dave invites him to fish for bass on Beebe Lake. I know the man who for years has loved his wife and his children and his granddaughters. But I don't know the person who went to sleep each night in a hanging bunk in the hold of the ship, wondering if a Japanese submarine would send a torpedo through its side as he slept.

Jerome is right, to a degree. Our fathers were born for us at the age they were when we entered the world. Old photos and letters and shared memories can help us only a bit to imagine the people they were before we knew them, as if they were some distant, beloved uncles who die in World War II battles when we were only toddlers, yet whom the older family members recall fondly.

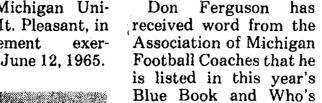

In June, the month of Father's Day, I stop for a moment to honor the men they are and the men they were. They are my dads. That is enough for me. But I will try also to imagine the people they were - those men I never knew, but love anyway - because they became the fathers I love today.

County program involving the do- Building Board of Commissioners Room.

> Liz Sapio stated that the program will include establishing a network of local businesses agreeing to act as collection stations for people to conveniently recycle their used oil. Volunteers will also help publicize the program throughout Crawford and Roscommon counties to encourage do-ityourself oil changers to recycle their used oil.

"Dumping used oil in backyards, vacant lots, sewers or even into the trash creates a significant health hazard and pollutes our drinking water," said Sapio. She added that used oil is an especially important energy resource that is currently being wasted. A government study estimated that as much as 240 million gallons of used oil are dumped each year by the do-it-yourselfer simply because they have no convenient method of propely disposing of the oil.

chard to attend the Foreign Policy Conference for Young Political Leaders, held in Washington, D.C. on June 3. Governors may nominate four political leaders under the age of 40 (two Republicans, and twp Demcrats) to attend this conference.

Joseph V. Wakeley of

Governor James J. Blan-

Wakeley's name was submitted for consideration by Connie Shorter, liaison to Gov. Blanchard from his regional office in Detroit.

The conference was sponsored by the American Council of Young Political

The Foreign Policy Conference for Young Political Leaders offers an opportunity for state legislators, mayors, city council members, youn Democratic and Republican leaders, county commissioners, party officials and political activists of all persuasions to be thoroughly briefed on the current foreign policy of the United States.

Meetings were held in the Loy Henderson Conference Room of the US Department of State building. This is the same room that housed the Iran/Contra hearings.

"The conference was everything that I had hoped it would be," Wakeley stated, "and more!" He said that the speakers and panel members all worked in some field of diplomatic service.

Deputy assistants, public affairs officers, foreign affairs specialists, and deputy directors spoke concerning U.S. foreign policy as it relates to US Soviet relations NATO, Central America, human rights, South Africa, the Middle East, East Asis and the Pacific, and arms control.

Wakeley reported that the foreign service represen-"were tatives, knowledgeable, held impressive credentials, and another.

were surprisingly young." He estimated their average age to be about 35 years. His inital surprise with their youthful appearance was soom dismissed as each speaker and panel member impressed him with their. "patient, low keyed, onestep-at-a-time" approach to every aspect of US foreign

The composition of the group attending the conference also surprised Wakeley. Of the 300 persons in attendance, only about 5% were women and even fewer blacks. "These numbers may reflect the ratio of women and blacks in state and local political leadership positions," stated Wakeley, "but it is my hope that if I was to walk into that same conference five years from now, that those minority numbers would have increased.

"This trip was not just for me," concluded Wakeley. "Grayling is a part of the global economy anymore. We do not just sit up here in Northern Michigan, in the middle of the mitten, and get all our news because it's beamed into us by satellites. Grayling is part of an internaitonal community, and we cannot feel that what is happening abroad does not affect us. I hope that I have brought home some information that might not have come to our community otherwise." Before leaving Washington DC, Wakeley visited the Viet Nam War Memorial. He walked along the wall, and looked for the names of Crawford County men who sacrificed their lives fighting in the war. He explained that the experience, an emotional one, is something every American should share with one

Although Joe Wakeley is a Republican, serving Crawford County as treasurer, attending this conference was independent of any county responsibility.

SPORTS FANS! Bet You Didn't Know

Brought To You By Cliff Wheeler Sales Representative

Which is the only team in professional sports to win the championship of its league as many as 8 straight years?...The only pro team ever to do that is the Boston Celtics who won the championship of the National Basketball Association every year for an amazing 8 consecutive years from 1959 through 1966.

Surprisingly, collecting custom of baseball cards goes back than more years...The first baseball cards were made in the early 1880s and were put in cigarette packs...Baseball cards came with chewing gum for the first time in the 1930s...The most valuable baseball card of all-time is the 1909 card of Hall of Famer Honus Wagner... Wagner production of his card stopped, there are only a few in existence and they're worth thousands 🖪 of dollars.

Hers's a quiz...Who holds the record in big league baseball for the most stolen bases of all-time?...The player with the most stolen bases in history is Lou Brock, with 938 in his career.

I bet you didn't know that Cliff Wheeler can offer you a championship deal on a new car or truck, and if you'd like a new one every year he'd give you the same great treatment and service for nine years in a row. That way, you too can beat the Boston Celtics! Come see Cliff Today! Go Pistons!

Crawford County Board of Commissioners

The Winners Circle column was created to address questions on the Michigan Lottery and its games. Following are a few of those most frequently asked of Lottery personnel.

Q: How are Super Lotto jackpot amounts determined?

A: Like other parimutuel games, Super Lotto prize pools are based on the amount played for each drawing. The 25 cents of every sales dollar assigned to the Jackpot prize pool forms an invest-ment in which all the principal and interest combine to pay winners a much larger total over a 20-year period. Players who match five of the winning numbers share the second prize pools comprised of 8 cents of each dollar spent on tickets. The third prize pool, shared by all who match four numbers, is paid from 13 cents of each dollar. Super Lotto has a minimum Jackpot of $1.5 million. A "rollover" – when no one matches all six winning numbers-keeps the Jackpot growing until it is won.

Q: What happens if a winner dies before collecting the full prize

A: Payments continue to be paid to the estate of the deceased until the full amount of the prize is awarded. This also is true of $1,000-a-week-for-life prizes in past instant games which guaranteed payment of at least $1 million.

Q: How many prizes go unclaimed and what happens to this money?

A: In an average year, unclaimed prizes represent about one percent of sales revenue. In the past fiscal year, they totaled about $11.6 million. Primarily made up of small prizes, this money is added to Lottery net revenues which are all assigned to the state School Aid Fund to help support K-12 education.

Q: How much are Lottery retailers

A: Lottery retailers earn a 6% sales commission on every ticket sold and receive a 2% redemption commission for their payment of prizes worth up to

Q: Are Lottery drawing machines and the computer connected?

A: Similar to equipment used in other lotteries, the drawing machines used for Daily games and Super Lotto drawings are specially designed to make a random selection of numbers. They operate completely independent of the Lottery's computer system. The main computer records wagers in the games and can verify winning tickets only after the drawing is completed and winning numbers are fed into it. Equipment checks are made before and after each drawing. All are supervised by both a Lottery drawing manager and an independent auditor, and videotaped as a matter of public record.

PUBLIC NOTICE REGARDING LEAD IN DRINKING WATER

NOTICE IS REQUIRED BY THE ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY AND IS OF IMPORTANCE TO EVERYONE. SPECIFIC INFORMATION HEREIN APPLIES TO ALL MUNICIPAL WATER SUPPLY CUSTOMERS OF THE CITY OF GRAYLING.

The Environmental Protection Agency has noted some concern about the potential for lead in drinking water throughout the country. By following the procedures described below, consumers can easily eliminate the potential risk of lead in their drinking water.

The Problem: Under some conditions, it is possible that commercial and residential copper plumbing and lead service piping could allow potentially harmful amounts of lead to taint drinking water.

The Solution: Whenever your water has not been used for several hours, be sure to flush your faucets typically for one or two minutes until fresh water is evident, as indicated by its turning colder. This procedure will remove lead that may have dissolved from your pipes. While there is a difference of opinion among many experts regarding the use of hot water, it should be pointed out that some experts feel that there is an increased risk of lead exposure when using water from hot water systems that meet the criteria below. Some people prefer not to use hot water from the systems for cooking or drinking.

Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

- If your home or water system has lead pipes, or If your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and if the home is less than five years old, or
- ·if you have soft or acidic water, or -if water sits in the pipes for several hours.

The Michigan Department of Public Health feels there is no reason for alarm or overreaction to the lead issue and that the simple yet effective flushing of the potable water lines routinely each morning will reasonably allow the public to avoid potential unnecessary exposure to drinking water contaminated with lead from the piping components.

Random sampling throughout the State by the Michigan Department of Public Health has confirmed the presence of lead in drinking water from certain piping systems where the water has remained stagnant for a period of time. Levels in excess of the current drinking water standard (0.050 parts per million) have been detected in some taps. Laboratory testing has shown that the principal sources of lead are lead piping and lead based solders and fluxes used to join copper piping. The plumbing industry and homeowners who may construct potable drinking water piping systems must no longer use lead based solders and fluxes for joining copper piping. Other solder materials or joining methods are available and must be used. Lead piping has not been allowed for new installations for about the last ten years. Building copper piping water systems constructed to date may contain lead based solder and flux.

Drinking water pumped by the City of Grayling and delivered to the service connections in your home has no detectable levels of lead. However, water is the universal solvent and even relatively stable water when stagnant for a period of a few hours in contact with lead solder and flux can result in an increased risk of exposure to lead from the water.

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. There is currently a standard of 0.050 parts per million (ppm) based on new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly. Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious, damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women.

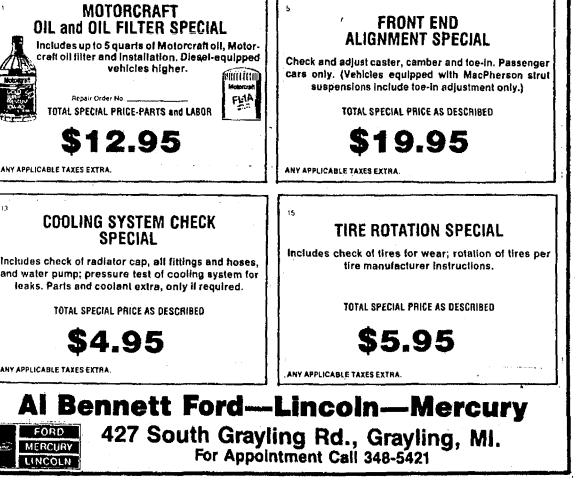

Besides lead in water from certain piping systems, there are other exposure pathways to lead including air, food and nonfood items. It should be noted that the major source of lead exposure and lead poisoning in the United States is due to children consuming lead based paint chips.

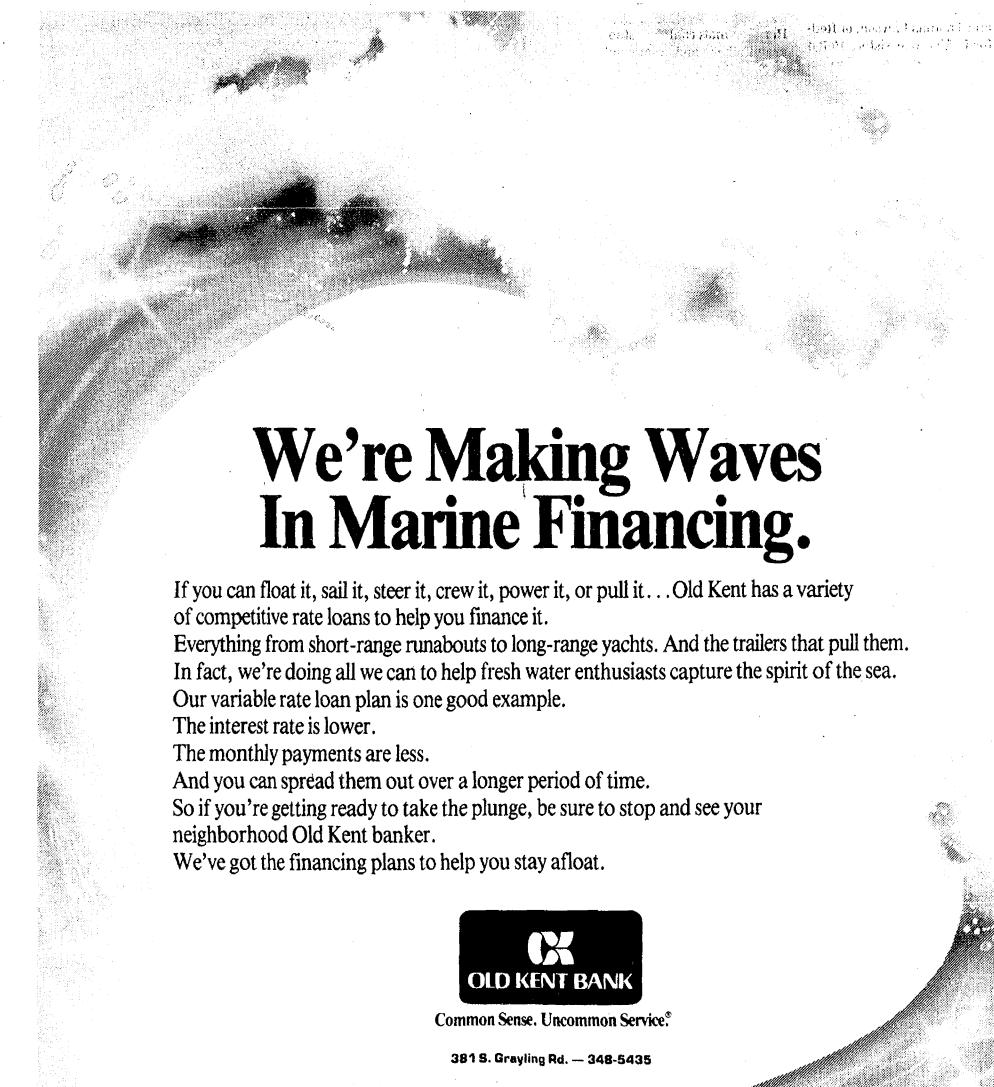

People who may have concerns about the concentration of lead from their building of household piping may wish to contact a reputable private laboratory for water analysis. Others who may have specific concerns relative to any possible health effects are urged to contact their physician.

For more information about this matter, you may call the Environmental Protection Agency hotline at 1-800-426-4791. Customers of the City of Grayling Water System may call A. Donald Sorenson at 348-2131.

The Gospel of John Part No. 38

Temple Teaching of Christ Jesus boldly faced the Jewish leaders who desired to kill Him, by going to the Feast of Tabernacles in the middle of the week and teaching in the midst of the temple. (John 7:14).

In verses 14-20 we notice how His words are resisted. First they questioned His education. "And the Jews marvelled, saying, How knoweth this man letters, having never learned?" (John 7:15). He reminds them that His doctrine is from God, not man. (John 7:16). ".. My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me." Then He gives them the test of doctrine, which is willing obedience. "If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or weather I speak of myself." (John 7:17). We can only know and understand the Bible as we are willing to live it. Last, He defends His doctrine because it is presented to glorify God, and not the messenger. (John 7:18). The same tests to true doctrine apply yet today. Is it Biblical? Am I willing to live it? Does it glorify God? Then it is of God!!

Having given them truth, Jesus exposed their evil works of error. "Did not Moses give you the law, and yet none of you keepeth the law? Why go ye about to kill me?" (John 7:19). He extheir posed righteousness as sin or transgression of God's law. Then He gave them the cardinal example, they desired to kill their God and law giver. They had resisted His words for their own religious doctrine.

Having rejected His words, they now resist His person. "The people answered and said, Thou hast a devil: who goeth about to kill thee?" (John 7:20). Instead of accepting Him as God, they join their leaders in identifying Him with Satan, and refusing to acknowledge the religious hatred against Finally, they resist His works. He reminded them of the healing of the important man for which they sought to kill him. (John 7:21). He then reminded them of how they broke their own laws of the Sabbath to fulfill the rite of circumcision given by both Moses in the law, and father Abraham before him. (John 7:22). He asks them how they can circumcise a baby on the Sabbath which merely symbolizes their purification and salvation, and yet, condemn Him for making "...a man'every whit whole on the Sabbath Day?" (John 7:23). He hit at the very heart of their religious hypocrisy. Jesus was showing them He was in complete harmony with the Jewish patriarchs and Moses, and their religious leaders and tradition were not of God. Their legalistic Sabbath rules were in conflict with the person, work and word of God.

The Deacon's Speakin'

Deacon Bob Nolan

Scripture Reference Mark 5:21-43 Today's Gospel reading shows us once more that Christ's miracle are miracles of goodness. He is God's Goodness which enters into all human beings and sufferings to give us faith and hope. Jesus is not the far off preacher that talks only of ideals and

Jesus is God Himself living with human life to save it. A large crowd gathered around Him. Christ in a way of speaking takes a crowd bath. He has no intention of escaping from them and returning to isolation. He remains God present in the midst of all the people.

A sick woman wanted to use this opportunity to obtain a cure. She thinks that it would be sufficient to touch Christ's clothes to be cured, and she is not mistaken. She knows that He can cure by one simple word, but she must ask Him. The nature of her illness causes her to be modest. She does not dare to expose herself to Him. But she thinks that the Lord can hear her request some other way. To touch His garment is some sort of speech and prayer which Christ is able to understand. So she touches the hem of His garment and she is cured.

We can understand the Gospels and the miracles by letting ourselves be drawn to the contemplation of the Son of God. The woman seemed to focus her whole being on the Person of Jesus. She placed her faith in Him. And He answered her prayer.

Mark tells us, 'Jesus was immediately conscious that healing power had gone out of Him.' People have for a long time attempted to give interpretations of this miracle in terms of their understanding of Jesus. As far as I am concerned, I believe Jesus always reacts, with a knowledge of Divine love, to every person who approaches Him.

'Daughter, it is your faith that has cured you.' What was the faith of this woman? Surely it was not the same as our today. But it was a beginning of faith. If we are humble, must acknowledge that our faith today is only a very small amount of faith. It is good for us to remember that this faith, if it is sincere, can obtain for us Christ's words of salvation. ("The Deacon Speakin" is a paid advertisement provided by the Knights of Columbus Council 1982 of Grayling. It does not reflect the views or the policies of the Crawford County Avalanche. The views expressed are those of Deacon Bob Nolan of St. Mary's Catholic Performance Record of the Friend of the Court Under Michigan law the chief circuit judge annually reviews the performance record of the Friend of the Court. The review will be conducted on or about July 1, 1988. This review is limited by law to the following criteria: whether the Friend of the Court is guility of misconduct, neglect of statutory duty, or failure to carry out the written orders of the court relative to a statutory duty; whether the purposes of the Friend of the Court Act are being met; and whether the duties of the Friend of the Court are being carried out in a manner that reflects the needs of the community. Members of the public may submit written comments to the chief judge relating to these criteria. Send your written comments, with your name and address to: Hon. William A. Porter. City-County Courthouse, Gaylord, Mi 49735.

What a delight to find watercress Mix all ingredients and let stand a while available in one of our local stores. Waterbefore serving. Best served at room temcress soup has a delicate flavor that is quite perature.

Friends have been quick to respond to requests for recipes for diabetics. Catherine Baker has devised this marinade for sliced cucumbers and onions: Dried orange peel (she dries her own in the oven without heat), crushed garlic, sugar substitute, your favorite herb or herbs, artificial salt, pepper, vinegar and water. Use quantities to your taste.

The Quaker Oats company suggests a chicken dish using oat flour instead of wheat flour. This is made by putting a cup of oaks (regular or quick) in the blender for about a minute, stirring once or twice.

CHICKEN CUTLETS

Ground oat flour (as prepared above) 1 tbsp. fresh dill or 1 tsp dried dill week 1/8 tsp lemon pepper

1/4 c. egg substitute or 1 egg 1/4 c. water

3 chicken breasts, boned, skinned and split 2 tbsp margarine, melted

Combine oat flour, dill and lemon pepper. Combine egg substitute and water. Lightly pound check to even thickness. Coat each piece with dry ingredients, then egg mixture, then dry ingredients again. Place in 9 x 13 pan and drizzle margarine over tops. Bake 35 minutes at 375 degrees.

More recipes will follow as we receive them. Thanks for your help!

Resource Review

Bruce Patrick Conservation Officer

Each year members of the Health matters are prominent. Secret public show up at DNR offices, Conservation Officer's doorsteps, in restaurants or practically any place with a fish that appears to be diseased. They want to know what's wrong with the fish, if it's edible and what they should do with it.

More often than not, the fish are infested with little black spots. The problem, therefore, is referred to as "Black Spot". The black spots are actually pigmented cysts of larval trematodes (rematodes, or flukes, are parasitic flatworms) which mature in fish eating birds in this case kingfishers.

Fish such as rock bass, sunfish, bluegills, bass, pike, perch, minnows, etc., may be heavily infested, but the parasites do relatively little damage in most cases and do not obviously affect growth or longevity of the fish, except in massive infestation of young fish.

These trematodes are incapable of infesting man, and even a heavily infested fish is safe to eat. It may be more aesthetically pleasing to skin a very heavily infested fish before eating. In any case, cooking kills the parasites.

Verse or Worse

By Joseph D. Murphy

A Farmer's Faith

With straining eyes I search the skies Looking for some sign of rain, My crops are dying in the fields Will all of my work be in vain?

I have labored hard since early spring To bring my crop along But if we don't get rain soon It won't be worth a song.

We haven't had any rain for weeks. The weather's been so hot and dry And if I lose my crop this year, I'll have to bid my farm good-bye.

For last year the grasshoppers came-They ruined most of the crop. The bank will have to take the farm And my farming will come to a stop.

I kneel beside my bed each night-Pray the Lord will send us ratn. A farmer must have trust in the Lord Or he could never stand the strain.

Tonight I wake to Thunder's boom-The rain is pouring down, Bringing new life to a dying farm. I'll not have to move to town.

I kneel down in the falling rain And thank the Lord for His love. For a farmer can only till the earth Placing his faith in the Lord above.

BUDDY'S WORKSHOP Paint Peeling Profusely

All the paint on the woodwork of our old home is peeling badly. I'm not talking about chipping or cracking, it's coming off in chunks. What could be the cause of this? You can even see the wood in between the cracks.

There are usually a few reasons for the paint to be peeling in the method you describe. One is that an oil-based paint was used, and the paint has lost its elasticity. You can also ruin the oil-based paint by using improper brush strokes, which can make either the pigment or the oil stay close to the surface. At any rate, you'll have to completely strip the old paint away before repainting. Get down to bare wood, and prepare the surface as best you can.

As usual, my young son has gotten into my tool box, then left some tools out in the yard. One of the pairs of pliers have rusted stiff. Is there any way they can be salvaged?

Try soaking the rusted pliers in kerosene for a day or two, then clean them up with steel wool. A good penetrating oil will loosen the joint. Then dry the pliers and watch to see if they start rusting again. If they do, you may have to keep polishing them with a thin film of oil.

The plumbers who did our house obviously didn't intend for me to make the basement into a living area. Can I bury the copper water lines in the floor joists? Will notching every joist weaken the structure of the house?

Check with your local building inspector. Local codes may not allow you to notch the joists. You may, however, be able to drill through every joist and install flexible copper through the holes. If you soap the outside of the pipe, it will be fairly easy to thread it through the joists where it can be easily concealed.

The last thing you need when you're over 55, is a problem paying for your car insurance.

It does with Auto-Owners. They give good drivers age 55 or older a discount. So instead of raising your premiums or reducing your coverage you may pay a little less for your auto insurance. Auto-Owners respects maturity and a good driving record. Just ask your "no problem" Auto-Owners agent how he can save you money on your car insurance. When you hear the news, you'll be glad
